Milton

The Community

Milton is a contemporary suburban community in eastern Massachusetts that prides itself on a rich historical heritage, tree-lined streets, and acres of protected open space. Milton is unique in that it has the most privately and publicly conserved land within 20 miles of Boston, giving the town a bucolic atmosphere in close proximity to the cultural and business opportunities in the Greater Boston area.

Milton residents have quick access to major highways such as Routes 128, Interstate 93 and Interstate 95. Residents can also access the Red Line into Boston via the Mattapan Trolley.

Induction & Mentoring

A Teacher Induction and Mentoring Program is provided to support beginning teachers and teachers new to the district. This program pairs a new Milton teacher with a trained veteran teacher. The goal is to support the new teacher, develop collaborative relationships, improve practice, learn professional responsibilities and foster a learning community focused on improving student achievement.

New teacher orientation meetings are held prior to the opening of school and regularly scheduled new teacher meetings and mentor meetings are held throughout the school year.

Professional Development

Milton's Professional Development Program is a framework for our professional staff to build on existing practices and to learn new strategies that directly contribute to an increase in student achievement. Through this program we develop a collaborative atmosphere while improving the work environment. Each teacher is responsible for completing a minimum of 35 hours of professional development each year. Professional Development offerings that fulfill this obligation are published via the Milton Public Schools website under the link - Milton Professional Development.
