

Elementary librarian Josh Coben declares – Let the summer reading begin! Milton’s elementary schools are once again partnering with the Milton Public Library for our summer reading challenge. This year’s theme is “Libraries Rock!” K-5 library classes learned how they can have fun, become stronger readers, and beat the “summer slide” by reading all summer. Teachers sent home a registration form directing students to create a summer reading account. From June 22-August 29, students can log their reading minutes and the library events they attend, winning prizes along the way. We’re looking for 100% participation, so if your child has not yet done so, please be sure that they create an account and return the bottom section of the registration form to their teacher. Email Marti O’Keefe McKenna for help in registering. Join us today, Thursday, June 21, at 4:00 PM at the Milton Public Library for the Summer Reading Kickoff Event, featuring Toe Jam Puppet Band. We hope that everyone— parents/guardians, students, teachers — will participate in making this a successful and rewarding program!
