Please see this message from Mr. V. Classes begin Monday!

With school done for the year, let's make the best of it! I will be doing online chess classes in May. I did a couple of April and it worked very well - I had 30+ kids in two classes. Now I will add a third class which will allow me to better split the groups by level. Feel free to share if you know anyone who may be interested. Any questions let me know.

Beginner Class will be Mondays and Wednesdays at 4:00pm. May 4, 6, 11, 13, 18, 20, 25, 27 This is for kids that are completely new or relatively new.

Intermediate+ Class will be Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:00pm. May 5, 7, 12, 14, 19, 21, 26, 28 This class for slightly more experienced players.

Intermediate Class will be Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4:00pm. May 5, 7, 12, 14, 19, 21, 26, 28 This class is for kids who know all of the rules, but are still relatively inexperienced.

If anyone ends up in 'the wrong class', do not worry, they can switch!

I will do the classes on Zoom. It is pretty easy. I believe that even if you do not have a camera/microphone, you can listen to the classes (and see!). You can use it on desktop, laptop, or iPad.

Cost: $100 for the eight classes. They will be 30-45 minutes. I do an hour in schools but I think that would be a long time to listen to me. I will include a chesskid.com membership (good through mid-May 2021) for those signing up for the first time. This is normally $49/year. Kids can play with each other at this site (and maybe can play me too!).

Siblings can look on for free on the same connection. If they did the class in April I'll get the sibling their own chesskid account.

Payment can be done in various ways:
