Memorial Concert To Honor Herbert Voigt

Herbert Voigt was a well-known and beloved resident of Milton. For those of you who were fortunate enough to have known him, his sudden death on January 25th came as a total shock and a realization of what a huge loss his passing is to this community.

A Professor of Biomedical Engineering and an Associate Research Professor of Otolaryngology at Boston University, Herb, along with Ronit, his wife of 42 years, raised their son Justin and daughter Emily here in Milton. He was incredibly active in the town, serving as an elected Town Meeting member and an elected Milton Public Library Trustee. He was also president of the Milton Foundation for Education, a member of the Board of Overseers for BID-Milton, and twice president of the Milton Library Foundation.

When Herb believed in something, he did so with passion and commitment, giving generously of his time, his talents and his boundless energy. One of his many passions was music, leading to his service as president of the Bach, Beethoven and Brahms Society Orchestra of Boston. To honor Mr. Voigt, the BB&B Society Orchestra will present a concert dedicated to Herb’s memory this Sunday, March 4th at 3:00pm. This tribute performance will include Haydn’s Symphony No. 44 in e minor, nicknamed “The Sublime”, the slow movement of which Haydn asked to have played at his own funeral. The concert will be held at Converse Hall, 88 Tremont Street in Boston, next to the Parker House Hotel. You are invited to please come and celebrate the leadership and life of this exceptional man.
